

From: Joe Duax [jd2695@columbia.edu]
Sent: Monday, June 04, 2012 7:14 AM
To: West, Quill
Subject: Fwd: Permission to Use Request

Hi Quill,

That would be fine with us. You might also want to check out our study guide section:

<http://www.cjr.org/resources/studyguides/index.php>

Joe Duax
Business Manager
Columbia Journalism Review
2950 Broadway
New York, NY 10027

P: 212-854-5055
F: 212-854-8367

Begin forwarded message:

From: Brent Cunningham <wbc7@columbia.edu>
Date: May 30, 2012 2:40:55 PM EDT
To: Joe Duax <jd2695@columbia.edu>
Subject: Fwd: Permission to Use Request

Brent Cunningham
Deputy Editor
Columbia Journalism Review
212.854.1882

----- Forwarded message from qwest@tacomacc.edu ----- Date: Wed, 30 May 2012 18:18:29 +0000
From: "West, Quill" <qwest@tacomacc.edu>
Reply-To: "West, Quill" <qwest@tacomacc.edu>
Subject: Permission to Use Request

To: "editors@cjr.org" <editors@cjr.org>

Dear Columbia Journalism Review,
I'm wondering what your policy on distribution of material is. I'm a librarian in Washington State. We are working on a project to create open education classes and one of our faculty designers would like to use an article from your website in a social sciences course. The course will be free for any teacher to adapt in their teaching, anywhere in the world. Students will not purchase a textbook, but will learn concepts from a variety of sources. We would like permission to distribute the article "Tripping Up Big Media" as part of the course. You will retain your copyrights, and a note will be attached to the article stating that the material is to be used for educational purposes only. We would love your support for our open education project.

Regards,
Quill West
OCL Librarian

---

Quill West
OER Project Director
Tacoma Community College
Building 7, Library
253-460-3936

----- End forwarded message -----

Dear Columbia Journalism Review,
I'm wondering what your policy on distribution of material is. I'm a librarian in Washington State. We are working on a project to create open education classes and one of our faculty designers would like to use an article from your website in a social sciences course. The course will be free for any teacher to adapt in their teaching, anywhere in the world. Students will not purchase a textbook, but will learn concepts from a variety of sources. We would like permission to distribute the article "Tripping Up Big Media" as part of the course. You will retain your copyrights, and a note will be attached to the article stating that the material is to be used for educational purposes only. We would love your support for our open education project.

Regards,

Quill West

OCL Librarian

---

Quill West

OER Project Director

Tacoma Community College

Building 7, Library

253-460-3936